

St. Johnsbury Caledonian.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Friday, May 24, 1878.

Remember the Postage.

Subscribers living out of Caledonia county should not forget to remit ten cents for postage, with their subscription. By the present law, publishers are to pay the postage in advance upon all their publications.

TO DELINQUENTS.

Those subscribers who neglect to keep their accounts square, must not be surprised if the paper is collected at their expense. We must have a settlement with all our subscribers.

Local and State News.

Wanted, a local correspondent at West Concord.

Mrs. Hinman's millinery opening, the 29th and 30th.

Noah Cressey, M. A., V. S., employed by the State Agricultural College, will lecture on diseases of animals, at St. Johnsbury, May 30, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Wm. J. Bray received $120 from the "Travellers" Insurance Company for a hurt to his shoulder, by being thrown from a sled last winter.

We learn that the Commissioners from this state to the Paris Exposition—Judge Poland and Gov. Smith—expect to sail about the 15th of June.

The creditors of Thomas S. Randall of North Danville, met at St. Johnsbury House Wednesday, before Judge Underwood, and appointed John Emerson as assignee.

Frankie, a six-years-old son of Charles E. Doying, broke an arm while at play at the Union school house Friday. It is not a bad break, and the boy is doing well.

Rev. Mr. Bates of Newbury preached at South Church last Sabbath, and Rev. A. W. Wild of Peacham, at the North—on exchange with the pastors of these churches.

The June term of County Court sits in this place week after next. The criminal docket is unusually heavy, and the grand jury will have a good deal of business on its hands.

The following are the Grand Jurors for the coming term of County Court: Wm. A. Chapman, A. C. Babbitt. And below we give the Petit Jurors: Pembroke S. Stevens, E. F. Brown.

The remains of Harry Baxter, who died in New Jersey some months ago, were brought to this place for interment on Thursday last. He was a son of Mrs. Adeline W. Baxter of this village.

An extension ladder has been added to the wagon of the Hook & Ladder Company in this village. The case and rapidly of getting on to a building by this ladder are said to wonderfully surpass the old style.

Miss Laura Bishop, who has been the very acceptable clerk in the post office the past year or two, has found the place so hard for her that she has been obliged to resign, and her place is taken by Mrs. N. P. Dodge, postmaster Carpenter's sister.

The Annual Conference of Congregational churches will be held at Cabot on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 4 and 5. The Cabot friends are making efforts to have a specially good Sunday School anniversary. These conferences are of much interest, and every church should be well represented.

T. C. Fletcher & Co. have taken out the petition between their carpet and crockery room and the room occupied by James Berry in the basement of their store, and finished it up into one room, thus giving them a much more desirable place for those departments of their business. Mr. Berry has moved his picture store to Prince's block on Eastern Avenue.

The concert on Thursday evening by the Swedish Ladies' Quartette and the Blaisdells, was an exquisite treat. The harmony and delicate shading of these superior voices, was quite wonderful. They were most enthusiastically cheered, and responded heartily to every request. They sang without accompaniment, and their voices rang from the purest soprano to a rich bass.

The caucus Saturday evening drew out a fair number of voters, who made choice of the following gentlemen to represent them at the State Republican Convention to be held at Burlington to-day: Henry C. Belden, Franklin Fairbanks, Ephraim H. Stone, Elijah D. Budgett, Elisha May, Horace K. Ide, Gates B. Bullard, Harvin Padlock, Walter P. Smith. The delegation is understood to be for Col. Proctor for Governor.

J. W. Haskell & Son shut up their store Saturday. They had not been used, except for a small debt of about $70, but they concluded they could not go along. They dealt in agricultural implements and hardware. The firm consisted of J. W. Haskell and his son, Elias Haskell. The creditors so far as heard from, seem favorably disposed towards the Haskells and it is quite probable they will soon re-open their store.

If we cared to save the lives of a hundred or more dogs in this town, we should say to the owners that the warrant is issued for their slaughter. It costs the owner just $15 to have his dog killed "according to law," and all he can get off from that by having him killed by a private citizen, is clear gain. Not half the dogs in town have been licensed this year, and the town is likely to realize a handsome revenue by the omission.

Mr. C. H. Abbott, who has kept the boarding house in Fairbanks village for the past three or four years, leaves the house soon to give place to a Mr. Noyes of Groton. Mr. Abbott has been hired by the Seale Co. to keep the house, but the Company wished a man to take the house at his own risk, which Mr. Abbott was unwilling to do, and so the change is made. Mr. Abbott and family have made many friends during their stay in town, whose best wishes will go with them wherever they locate.

The Academy.

The graduating class are getting ready for the closing exercises, which occur in four weeks.—President Hall of Middlebury College, gives the baccalaureate on Sabbath day, the 16th of June.—The class are getting their class pictures at Mr. Clifford's gallery.—The Middle class has come out in white straw hats, decorated with black ribbon, striped with white and blue. The Middlers have also voted to carry canes.—A burlesque program, reflecting on the Middle class, was posted up about town Sabbath morning. The young men might display their talents in a more worthy direction.—The students have a game of base ball on the Fair Ground every Saturday. Last Saturday the Seniors beat the Middlers 24 to 10.

Accident.

Last Tuesday afternoon, as Mrs. Harvey Wood of East St. Johnsbury, and Mrs. Orange May and daughter of Kirby, were returning home from this place, just after passing through the bridge on Portland street, the king-bolt to their wagon broke, and threw them all out. Assistance soon came and they were taken into Mr. G. W. Hurlbutt's home near by, and a physician sent for. Upon examination it was found that no bones were broken. Mrs. Wood received a cut under her chin and was hurt about the chest. Mrs. May was hurt about the nose which caused it to bleed profusely, which was all the injury she received. Miss May was injured in one arm and hip, but probably not seriously, and it was thought all would be able to go home in a day or two. An examination of the king-bolt showed that it had become almost worn off, and the only wonder is that it had not broken while going down some hill instead of on a level road as it did. Why not examine these bolts often, and save many such accidents?

The Death of Tierney.

There are some further particulars of the sudden and terrible death of Patrick Tierney, of which mention was made last week. It seems he was coming down the steep hill this side of John Higgins's with a one-horse load of hay. When on a little level half way down the hill, he stopped and lit his pipe. It is supposed, though not certainly known, that while doing this, one rein slipped down the front of the load out of his reach, and that the horse started, and soon coming to the steep descent, was without control and was pushed down the hill at a fearful rate. On reaching Martin W. Carr's, the horse turned into the yard, and Tierney slipped off the front of the load, the horse wheel passing over his thighs and the hind wheel over his lower abdomen. He was helped into Mr. Carr's and a physician summoned, and although no bones were broken, he died of internal injuries in about five hours.

Served Him Right.

One day last week two young women in business in this place, received an insulting letter from a man who handed it into their shop, saying that he would return in half an hour for a reply. He did not return, but the next day the ladies received a postal card in which the same insulting proposals were renewed. The ladies are respectable persons who are working at a legitimate business and making an honest living. They were highly indignant at the treatment received, and laid the matter before State's Attorney Ide, who at once took measures to ferret out the scoundrel. Although the women did not know the man who handed the letter into their shop, they said they could identify him. They were taken down by the Avenue House, when they recognized a Portuguese barber in Bowen's shop, named Joe Gill, as the man. Sheriff Preston invited Gill up to the State's Attorney's office, where he was charged with the authorship of both the letter and the card. He stoutly denied the accusation at first, but finally owned up to writing the letter, but denied the card. Mr. Ide told him the girls would shoot him, as they were thoroughly indignant and aroused,—which was true—and advised him to go and try and settle up the matter with them. When Gill found out the temper of the party he had aroused, and heard that they talked of shooting him, he was more than ever disinclined to go; but he was finally persuaded to venture into their presence in company with the sheriff, which he did on Friday morning. When the matter was introduced, the girls charged him with the authorship of the postal, which was even more outrageous than the letter. Gill denied it, when the larger girl of the two, asked him to step into the back room, as she wanted to speak to him alone. Gill walked back to the door, where he was met by the returning heroine of this story, who with vengeance in her eye and a good-sized club in her hand, began to lay the club over Gill's head in dead earnest. Gill made a spring for the door, but before he got into the street, he had received four or five heavy blows which he will be likely to remember to his dying day. The whole transaction was done so quickly that the sheriff did not have time to interfere, and he now thinks that if Gill had not got out of the house as he did, these indignant females would have soon made an end of him. Gill has the name of doing such things before, and he gets no sympathy from any one. He will doubtless "light out" to some place, where he is not so well known; and respectable ladies in our town are safer from insult since the vigorous action of these plucky milliners.

Barnet.

The rivenmen have been working in full force opposite the village this week, driving the lodged logs and jams in the Connecticut. They are a tough, vigorous set of fellows, running great risks of health and life, working in the water all day and camping at night on the ground in tents beside the river. They begin in the spring as soon as the ice breaks up, starting logs in the upper Connecticut, and following some of them as far down as Holyoke, Mass. There are some of them at work all the time from daylight till dark, Sundays and all, and they eat four meals a day of hearty food cooked at the tents. Although some wild holes are made in the water, yet but few of them get drowned.

The depot at this place, was broken into Tuesday night and one barrel of sugar, two tubs of butter, one case of eggs and some express packages taken. No trace of the thieves has yet been obtained.

Cabot.

The lists have been completed and returned to the town clerk the grand list for the present year, which foots up $4,381.47. Number of polls, 331; number of dogs, 55. The grand list of 1877 was $4,361.00.

A. M. Foster picked a blade of grass on his farm the 15th of May that measured 29 inches. We believe this is as big a story as we have heard this year.

Rev. Mr. Forrest commenced his labors with the Methodist church in this town, May 12th. We heard him spoken of as a sound sermonizer and a good speaker. We hope he may be the means of doing much good among this people.

The Conference of the Cong. churches of Caledonia county, is to meet in this town June 4th and 5th. Our people are making arrangements to give them a hearty reception, and it is hoped we shall see many of our old friends from that county with whom in former years we used to associate. It is intended to make the Sunday school anniversary especially interesting.

East Concord.

Elder Heath and Chas. E. Swazey of Bethlehem, N. H., organized a reform club at this place, with a membership of 52. There are a great many more who ought for their own good and the good of others, take the same obligation upon themselves. They will have a splendid opportunity to forsake "old Broadguage" on Saturday of this week, when the club meet again.

West Concord.

Several town meetings have been called to see if the trouble between the town and the P. & O. Railroad could be settled. One meeting several weeks ago, was to see if the town would elect commissioners to buy the bonds at best rates. This project was defeated, but so many expressed a desire to instruct commissioners to buy the bonds at the price not exceeding fifty cents on the dollar, that another meeting was called. At this last meeting the article was passed over, so the case stands as it was. There are a few who are willing to pay half the town agreed to do, if the road will accept that; but the majority are apathetic.

Danville.

Quarterly meeting services at the M. E. church next Sabbath. The Presiding Elder, Rev. Mr. Malcom, will be present and preach, Saturday at two P. M., and Sunday A. M. Rev. Mr. Sanford will preach at the Baptist church Sunday, at three P. M. It is expected that members of Y. M. C. A. of St. Johnsbury, will conduct services at the Congregational church.

One of Merrill Weeks' best cows died last Sunday, caused by taking cold.

The following jurors have been drawn for June term of court: M. M. Batchelder, grand juror; Wm. H. Harris and A. A. Finley, petit jurors.

Mr. Henry S. Cook was taken sick last week with inflammation of the bowels, but is better at this time. Mrs. N. H. Eaton has been seriously ill with congestion of the lungs, but for the past day or two has improved somewhat.

At the Republican caucus to elect delegates to the State Convention, B. N. Davis, S. H. Stone and Charles D. Brainerd, were elected.

East Hardwick.

At the caucus held last Saturday, J. H. George, H. E. Carter and Wm. Ward were elected as delegates to the State Convention.

Will Houston, our station agent, has been sick the past three weeks, and F. Pitts of Walden, takes his place until he recovers.

Improvements are in order at this season of the year. Capt. Davis is improving his store with a coat of paint, etc. Mr. Lawrence has put on new blinds on his house, and we hope that "still there is more to follow."

Rev. C. E. Gordon has decided on accepting the call from the Congregational church, and will commence his labors the first Sabbath in June.

Mrs. Lois M. Conant, wife of C. F. Conant, died in Brooklyn, N. Y., May 19, aged 45. Mrs. C. will be remembered by many friends in Hardwick, as a woman of many Christian attainments, and her faithful, earnest, self-denying life will long be remembered by those who knew her best.

Lyndon.

At the Republican caucus held last Saturday, S. S. Thompson, I. W. Sanborn, J. N. Bartlett and B. F. Lincoln were elected delegates to the State Convention. All are supposed to be in favor of Proctor for Governor. On the first ballot there was a tie between the Proctor and Merrill candidates. I. H. Hall, who is a Merrill man, went out to drum up absentees, and found A. W. Morgan and invited him to "go up and vote for the Colonel." Morgan went up, but he voted for the Proctor delegate, who was elected by one majority. To accommodate the proprietors of the Barton fair ground, the horse trot which the Driving Park association were intending to hold July 4th, is postponed indefinitely.

C. W. Hopkins has moved from the Centre to Silas Wheeler's house, at the Vile.

The Free Baptist society at the Centre, have engaged Rev. W. L. Noyes to preach to them another year.

The Free Baptists of New England, will hold their anniversary with the church at the Centre next October.

Ansel Miles lost about 20 rods of board fence by fire, while burning brush a few days ago.

Pasumpscot.

E. E. Woods has been filling up with new goods, and makes proclamation to the Barret and Waterford readers of the Caledonian in another column.

Diphtheria still rages in this place. There were two deaths Sunday night—making nine since it first broke out. There have been some 23 cases, but some of these have been quite light.

Most of the fatal cases have been of children less than ten years old. By the advice of the physicians, the school has been closed for a week or more to prevent spreading the disease. This village has been called one of the healthiest any where in this section. None of the prevalent epidemic diseases have raged here for nearly forty years. As for the cause of the present scourge we understand that the doctors agree in attributing it to the condition of the house occupied by the Kidder family. The premises have not been properly renovated as yet.

Peacham.

Sunday morning the Rev. Mr. Jones of St. Johnsbury, preached in the Cong. church, giving a home and family sermon, bewitching in its goodness and brightness, delivered in quietness, pickaxe and shovel out of sight, if such weapons were there. It was like the "still small voice" perhaps. A well written sermon it was. Probably it sprang up in the most natural way; not a bunch of common pulpit grass—something quite rare, something fine, clear, beautiful—a charming antidote for the folks at home rasping one another behind the scenes.

S. B. Rowell is county grand juror, and Paul Ferguson and Hiram A. Sanborn petit jurors at June term of court.

Sheffield.

Fred. Heath has hired one part of Merrill Jenness' house now occupied by James Salmon, and moved his family there.

Rev. S. S. Brigham exchanged pulpits with our former pastor, Rev. J. H. Winslow, last Sabbath.

When a district school teacher has the moral courage and back bone to expel ugly, unruly boys, who have no regard for themselves nor their parents, we think it deserves a passing notice. If parents won't make their children behave it ought not to be expected that strangers would.

Some of our village boys are meriting a situation at the reform school, and ought to have it made their home.

Dr. Stiles and family are away on a visit to his native town, Stowe, and will be gone a week or more.

At the caucus last Saturday night Dr. Stiles and H. P. King were chosen delegates to the State Convention.

Wheelock.

Baptism last Sabbath by Rev. C. M. Henderson.

Our gospel workers have commenced to hold meetings in the new school house, beyond Sheffield village.

James French is soon to move his family into Osborn Ward's house in the village, while he canvasses for the sale of bibles.

Judge Rogers goes to Burlington as Republican delegate to the Convention there Thursday.

Postscript.

The State Convention.

The Delegates Largely for Proctor.

BURLINGTON, Wednesday Eve.

The evening trains brought in hundreds of delegates to the State Republican Convention to be held here tomorrow. The hotels are full of men earnestly canvassing for the respective candidates. A comparison of notes gives the promise of a good majority for Col. Redfield Proctor for Governor, on the first ballot. It is not safe to predict the result beforehand perhaps, but it now looks as though Proctor would receive three to one of the ballots cast.

For Lieut. Governor, the case is not so clear. Orleans county presents E. P. Colton, of Innsburg; Orange county, B. Mead of Randolph; Windsor county, Hugh Henry of Chester; Windham, Gen. Lynde of Marlboro. Col. Mead is the favorite man to-night, but the locality is against him, as Orleans and Windham counties claim to name the man.

Many prominent men from different parts of the state are here, besides the candidates. Among others we notice Hon. C. W. Willard of Montpelier, who has returned from Arkansas in somewhat improved health.

PROCTOR NOMINATED.

A dispatch from Burlington at 3 o'clock p. m. says Col. Proctor was nominated unanimously.

John Whelton, who attempted the life of the warden at Charlestown, four years ago, was removed to the new prison at Concord Tuesday, and in 40 minutes he escaped but was recaptured.

A bold and mysterious robbery, which occurred at Manchester, N. H., last June, has just been made public. During a circus parade, and while only one clerk was on duty, between $3000 and $4000 worth of postage stamps were stolen from the post office, and the most skillful detectives have failed to discover the plunder or the robbers.

Strikers have burned the engine houses, etc., of the Green Mountain Coal Mills near Belleville on the Illinois and St. Louis railroad.

A devoted husband says that the photograph is simply a machine that "talks back," and he has had one of that kind in his house ever since he was married.

NOTHING SHORT OF UNMISTAKABLE benefits conferred upon tens of thousands of sufferers could originate and maintain the reputation which ATEN'S SARAPARILLA enjoys. It is a compound of the best vegetable alteratives, with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and is the most effectual of all remedies for scrofulous, mercurial, or blood disorders. Uniformly successful and certain in its remedial effects, it produces rapid and complete cures of Scrofula, Sores, Boils, Humors, Eruptions, Eruptions, Skin Diseases and all disorders arising from impurity of the blood. By its invigorating effects it always relieves and often cures Liver Complaints, Female Weaknesses and Dropsy, and is equally as effective in banishing cutaneous eruptions, and removing the poisons of rheumatism and gout. Boils and eruptions, freckles, pimples, and indeed every impurity of the cuticle is entirely removed by it. It is avowedly, by ladies who have used it, to be the most effective means of clarifying and softening the skin that they have ever known. It is health promoting, improves the complexion, and is highly recommended by medical writers and all equally respectable sources, precisely any reasonable doubt as to the genuineness of its claims to public confidence. Clothing and food from the sick room is disinfectant by it, and it prevents contagion when the danger of infectious diseases has been incurred by contact. Sores and ulcers, that resist the operations of salves and ointments, are healed by it. It relieves itching, swelling and pain caused by bruises and sprains. The opening of the pores, resulting from the whole, some stimulation of the superficial blood vessels, it produces, in the effect best described to the circulation when overheated, and carry off these offensive granulations which disfigure the cuticle and render existence a state of martyrdom while they remain. Eruptions, ailments that cannot be well cured, are entirely eradicated by GENE'S SKIN SOAP. Sold by Druggists. 25-Ct. HILL'S HAIR AND WHISKER LIME. Black of Brown 50c.
